To The Student Body

We live in an unfinished world. Life is a venture. Faith is its basis: enthusiasm is its dynamic force: insight is its pilot: personality is its goal: the survival, welfare, and redemption of mankind is its cause. Out of all civilization, two things abide, and only these two things endure--the personality of Jesus and the methods of science. The latter enables us to conquer nature: the former, to use all things for the redemption of man. The one gives us control over things; the other gives us the goal, the power, and the way of life. The greatest need of the world today is a new school of prophets who have the courage and the insight to "know the truth," and a loyalty to our Redeemer that they may create "the Divine Society." For not until then will there be "the great society."

The faculty, the student body, and the community are fortunate in the character of the student body of Hayes County High School. May I express to all the students the wish that the year 1966-67 may be a red letter year, and that the hard work, the many pleasures, the fine acquaintances that has been their lot may help to bring out and develop the best in them throughout many years of useful citizenship.

Class Will of 1967

We, the Senior Class of Hayes County High School, leave these our most treasured possessions to the undergraduates, hoping they will make the best possible use of them:

- I, Monte Lawson, will my crash helmet to Merle Spickelmier.
- I, Peggy Foote, will my chem lab apron to Linda McHarness, may she wear it in health.
- I, Ruth Ann Carr, will nothing to no one.
- I, Tom Broz, will my '54 Chev to anyone who has a '53.
- I, Carol Spickelmier, will my ability to be calm in an excitable situation to Vicki Venhaus.
- I, Peggy Gier, will my ability to walk a straight line to Carol Lemon.
- I, Dean Howard, will my cafeteria apron to anyone that needs it.
- I, Lanny Evans, will my straight legs to John Beard.
- I, Sheryl Glee, will the Pep Club to the lucky person who is president next year.
- I, Jolene Fletcher, will my ability to spot UFO's to anyone dumb enough to want it.
- I, Greg Fowler, will my good looks to Doug Meitzner.
- I, Steve Gerih, will my ability to get along with Mrs. Fagerstone in 7th hr. study hall to Rick May and Don Buff.
- I, Dean Scott, will my strong muscles to Doug Schmelzer.
- I, Maurie Schuman, will my contacts to anybody who can wear them in football.
- I, Jean Doyle, will my short blonde hair to Marsha Gathman.
- I, David Johnson, will "nothing" as I'm not planning to die.
- I, Karen Shafer, will all my jobs as treasurer of organizations to anyone who wants them.
- I, Leona Kolbet, will my ability to snap my gum to anyone who wants to make noise.
- I, Mr. Reimann, will my Kaiser to anyone rich enough to buy it.
- We, The Seniors of 1967 will ourselves to the world, you get us whether you want us or not.

We, the graduating Seniors of 1967, being of sound mind and body hold this to be our true will and testimony.

Signed

Seniors of 1967

1987???

Well, ladies and gentlemen here we are aboard the rocket ship, Starflash in the year of 1987. This is a special rocket ship whose mission is to pick up all the graduates of the class of 1967 and take them to their class reunion at the White House. This is your friendly pilot, Lanny Evans, speaking. I am now married to Connie Buffington and the proud father of 5 children. I must keep on the move because I heard the internal revenue is after me for tax evasion. I would like to introduce our beautiful, charming and ever so efficient stewardess Miss Karen Shafer. She also has her pilot's license because more than once it has been necessary for her to take over the piloting as you see I become ill quite often. Our first stop is the Dean Howard Ranch. Dean is now married to the former Sheryl Glee and they are the proud parents of 2 children. Sheryl has a private beauty salon which she operates to get a little extra spending money. Now let's see here we are at another huge ranch. Why there is Dean Scott out polishing his new 1988 Buick. We hear that he is kept quite busy, seeing that he gets a new car every month. And who is that coming out the door, why it's Dean's private secretary Ruth Ann Carr. Dean has so many business matters that he needs a private secretary just to count his money. Our next stop is at the University of Nebraska, where we will pick up 3 of our former classmates. Maurie Schuman greets us with his old cheery smile. As the track coach, he keeps physically fit by running 20 miles each day to his favorite fishing spot where he rests for a couple of hours. On to the Home Economics Department where we find Peggy Foote busy at work. She is the head teacher here at the University. And who is that in the lab? Why it is Tom Broz experimenting on some new project. Between his experiments and his life's ambition to be a professional student, Tom doesn't have much time for socializing. Well on we go! And who do we have next? I can not quite make it out but it looks like Monte Lawson - yes it is. He is the same old Monte we all knew, with 5 girls on each arm. Age sure hasn't slowed him down although he is still a confirmed bachelor. He is now the top rodeo star of the nation. Why there is another classmate of ours Mrs. Ronnie Gilliland, the former Jean Doyle, with her 8 children. Jean is kept extremely busy teaching all her children how to ride. Oh, dear I feel ill, but here comes our faithful nurse, Jolene Fletcher, to my rescue. Now don't worry she will have me around in a few moments. Oh, yes that exotic lady sitting in the front seat is the billionaireess Carol Spickelmier. We haven't heard much from her because she becomes quite bored with these trips as she spends nine-tenths of her time traveling and spending her billions of dollars of alimony money. And what is this, why it's an electronic computer headquarters. And here comes the president Mr. Gregory George Fowler and his lovely wife Dorthy with their small 10 month old child. Oh, there seems to be something wrong with the rocket. We will have to call in our mechanic Steve Gerih to check over the problem. There everything seems to be under control again and we are safely on our way. And what is that huge landscape booming up in front of us, why it's the White House. Maybe we will find our 3 remaining classmates here. Now as we walk toward the White House we see 3 familiar faces confronting us. Why here is Dave Johnson, the Vice President of the United States. Well he just about made the presidency. And who is that to his left, Peggy Gier his faithful secretary, who always has her pencil and pad ready in hand. And who is this young lady, why I believe it is Leona Kolbet. Just what could she be doing here? Oh, she seems to be the professional taster of all the wine that is brought here for the President. And where is the President? Here he comes now, why I think my eyes are deceiving me, it appears to be our former History teacher, Mr. Leland Reiman. Why it is! Now that our trip is over we will all have an elaborate supper at the White House after which the class will put their banner back together and talk of the by-gone days.

Carol S....that good ol' sun.

L. Kolbet...O.K. you guys.

Jean D....OFHH!

Peg F... oh really darling.

Lanny & Dean...What the heck??

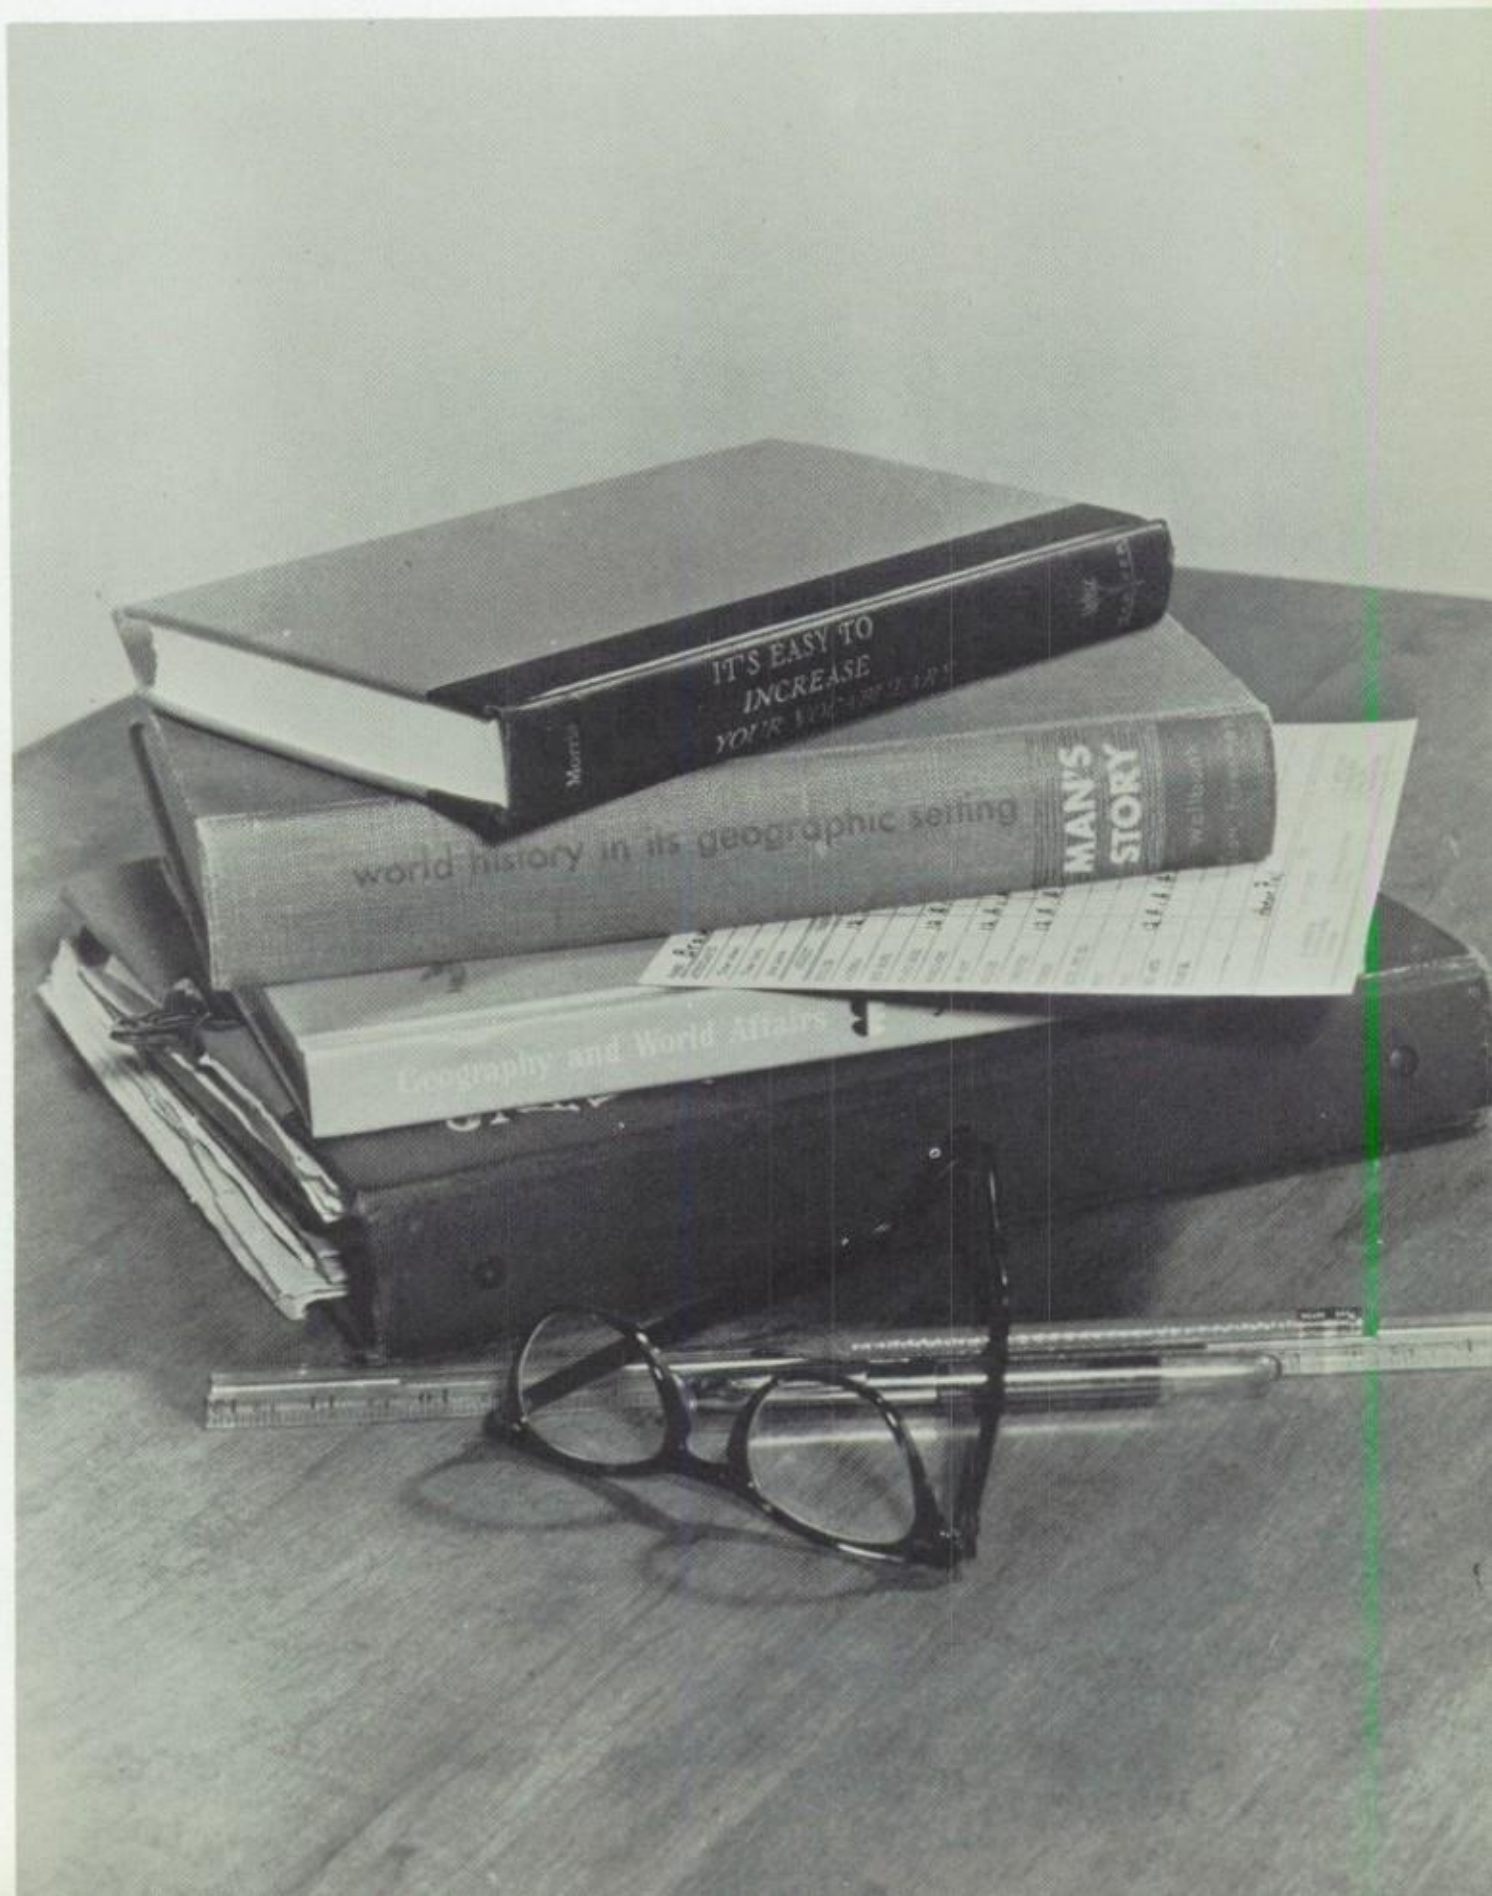

Sheryl G...Huh?? What??

Three Coins In A Fountain

The grade school was the setting for the Junior-Senior Banquet. The tables were centered with crepe paper waterfalls surrounded by small flowers. Each place setting consisted of a memory book, name card, napkin and a nut cup with silver numerals of "67" on the seniors and "68" on the juniors. An appetizing meal of jello salad, scalloped potatoes, corn, ham and strawberry shortcake was served by eight sophomores. The girls were clad in lavender tent dresses and the boys wore black slacks and white shirts.

Martha Rathbun gave the welcome and the response was given by Maurie Schuman. Mr. Philo sang the theme song, "Three Coins In a Fountain" and Pat Altman sang, "Al-Di-La". Mr. Reimann gave a speech staying with the same theme, but his three coins were those of ambition, determination, and goals. Mr. McCoy also gave a short speech on our goals in life.

After the banquet everyone moved up to the high school gym for the dance which started at 9:00. The music was supplied by the "Ryatts". The gym was elaborately decorated. The entire ceiling was covered with yellow streamers and accented by two huge red balls. The entrance was a large trellis with a brick wall around the entire dance floor. The ceiling was connected to the wall with streamers of various colors. A water fountain surrounded by rocks, flowers and grass was the site of many pictures. It was accented by a color wheel shining on it. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served under a green tressel adorned with colored flowers.
